Casket Saw Signs of Life.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Danville, Va., April 19.—The fouryear-old son of Charles Patterson, a farmer of the Pelham neighborhood, had a narrow escape from being burled allive recently. The child was taken ill several days ago, and becoming unconscious, he was pronounced dead and placed in a casket and taken to the church. When a relative went to take a look at the body it was found that there were signs of life, and a physician was hurriedly sent for, but the child passed away before he got to the church. The neighborhood was the church. The neighborhood was much stirred up over the occurrence.
